"Fruit-a-tives" Is The Remedy.

DELMAR, NEW YORK. "I have great pleasure in writing you about 'Fruit-a-tives'. I have had great relief in them. I have had Rheumatism for six months and have suffered much pain, but not laid up with it. Have tried about everything I heard about without much relief. Then I took 'Fruit-a-tives' and they gave me great relief. The swelling is almost gone and I feel good—like myself again. I can recommend 'Fruit-a-tives'—with a good heart—to anybody."

Mrs. EVALYN RADLIFF.

HEED THE WARNING

Many Barton People Have Done So.

When the kidneys are weak they give unmistakable warnings that should not be ignored. By examining the urine and treating the kidneys upon the first sign of disorder, many days of suffering may be saved. Weak kidneys usually expel a dark, ill-smelling urine, full of brick-dust sediment and painful in passage. Sluggish kidneys often cause a dull pain in the small of the back, heavy aches, dizzy spells, tired, languid feelings and frequent rheumatic twinges.

Doan's Kidney Pills are for the kidneys only; they help weak kidneys to rid the blood of poisons. There is no better recommended remedy. Read the statement that follows: A. F. Sargent, Glover, Vt., says: "I think Doan's Kidney Pills are very good for they helped me when I used them. When I stooped or did the least bit of work, my back was very sore. My kidneys acted irregularly and the secretions were painful in passage. I heard of what Doan's Kidney Pills had done so I got a couple boxes at Pierce's Drug store. They brought relief in a short time. I am glad to recommend a medicine like Doan's Kidney Pills."

Price 60 cents, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Sargent had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

HOTEL MEN AT STATE CONFERENCE

John Barrett Says Vermont Needs to Advertise in Newspapers to Prosper

One hundred and twenty people have been in attendance at the Vermont Hotel Men's association meeting at Manchester. The meeting closed with a banquet at the Worthy Inn at which John Barrett of Washington, D. C. a native Vermonter and former director general of the Pan-American Union was the chief speaker.

Following luncheon at the Worthy Inn, there was a general meeting at the Equinox House Theatre open to the public for the discussion of various matters of interest of hotel men and Vermonters in general. Secretary of State Harry Black, Walter H. Crockett and James P. Taylor were present and entered into the general discussion.

John Barrett's address was to the effect that liberal advertising of the state in newspapers both in and out of it, was Vermont's great need. He urged that a big new comprehensive selling and advertising campaign beyond anything heretofore attempted be organized and conducted next year.

From the hotel and every other business standpoint, he said, Vermont's chief need of the moment is effective newspaper and magazine selling and advertising of the State's attractions, resources and possibilities. Booklets, pamphlets and circulars are necessary, but the great broad publicity work must be done in daily and weekly newspapers and in representative weekly and monthly magazines.

Vermont's truthful appeal in summer attractiveness of climate, air and scenery, in inherent agricultural, industrial and economic possibilities, in cultural and educational conditions, is heard and recognized altogether too little throughout New England, New York and elsewhere. Past and present efforts of certain organizations, groups and individuals have been effective and deserve special credit and praise. They represent, however, only a small part of what should and must be done.

May I recommend therefore that the members of the Vermont Hotel Association collectively and individually, inaugurate next spring a really great and comprehensive advertising and selling campaign. In this they should call for and receive the generous co-operation of the people of the State—both summer and all the year residents and of its newspapers noted for their public spirit and loyalty to the State. The whole program is simply a question of national and state pride and organization, backed up by sufficient funds. These should and can be raised by popular subscription as well as by contributions of hotel proprietors. But it is up to the hotel men to take the lead in each city, town and community, supported by local commercial and social organizations and by the newspapers.

In May or June of next year every newspaper in Vermont should be encouraged to publish a special Vermont or summer issue or supplement. In these papers every town at least in the immediate section either through individual or co-operative effort, should run display advertising and effective reading matter telling graphically and truthfully the story of its hotels, its physical attractions and its agricultural, industrial and cultural possibilities. When issued every hotel proprietor, every resident—temporary and permanent—and every commercial and social organization should mail copies broadcast to all persons they know or of whom they have knowledge that might visit Vermont in the summer, stop at its hotels rent or purchase village houses or country farms, start industries and otherwise visit Vermont and invest or be interested in it. Because of their vital relationship to the situation Vermont's newspapers can be counted upon to do their part in straight unpaid reading and descriptive matter as well as in favorable advertising rates.

Picture for a moment what it would mean in fine publicity if all the dailies and weeklies of Vermont at a concerted or co-related time should publish special illustrated Vermont summer editions or supplements which could be distributed all over the world not only by hotel men but by its permanent and temporary residents to all those who might be interested. Hundreds of thousands of the right kind of people could be reached directly and effectively in this way. Why not try it next year?

MADE FEBRUARY THE VICTIM

Why That Month Has Not Its Quota of Days Is Due to Jealousy of Roman Emperor.

Why have July and August 31 days apiece, while poor old February has only 28, or, at the most, 29, asks a writer in Le Petit Parisien, Paris (translated for the Kansas City Star). The vanity and jealousy of emperors explains this peculiarity. In the Julian calendar February used to have 29 days for the common years and 30 for leap years. The other months alternated regularly, one with 30, the next with 31 days.

Now, Caesar's first name, Julius, had been given to the seventh month, and when the Emperor Augustus decided to have a month of his own he made up his mind that certainly it should have no fewer days than July, which was Caesar's.

Consequently, they cut another day off February in order to give Augustus his 31 and then arranged the sequence of strong and weak months after August; otherwise there would have been three successive months—July, August and September—each with 31 days.

This is an explanation given by an Italian review, without documentary evidence.

The Advantages of Matrimony.

"I'm a believer in women getting married. It doesn't matter so much for men, but for women it's the correct thing. Does 'em good and improves their characters. Unless they've a man to be unselfish to and coddle a bit they grow selfish themselves."

N. U. HAS UNIQUE BUREAU

Gives Service to Municipal and Community Plans.

The educational experiment tried out by Norwich University in the establishment of a Bureau of Municipal Affairs last year has ceased to be an experiment, having demonstrated the reason for its being and having proved its worth to the general public.

The Bureau was established in November, 1921, with the primary purpose of rendering service to the communities of Vermont by:

a. Giving information upon request regarding community organization, town planning, and the administration of local government.

b. Publishing bulletins dealing with problems of government which are of current interest and distributing them to municipal officers, civic organizations, and libraries.

c. Encouraging the establishment of local town reference bureaus.

d. Providing communities with speakers on governmental topics.

e. Holding local government conferences.

The Bureau is conducted and operated under the supervision of Professor K. R. B. Flint of the Department of Political Science, who is well known as an authority in all matters covered by the activities of the bureau.

Since it was established a number of local municipal reference bureaus have affiliated themselves and been established in the public libraries of Vermont. A large number of calls for assistance in the solution of municipal problems have been received from villages and municipalities in Vermont and elsewhere, and the bureau has been able to supply the needed information.

Professor Flint as director of the bureau has spoken on various phases of municipal government in a dozen or more Vermont communities and has been called as an expert on such matters into Massachusetts, New York and New Hampshire. A second edition of his bulletin on town planning has been published and has been distributed to the municipalities within the state. The first edition was exhausted some time ago, calls for it coming from as far afield as Australia. The bureau seems to fill a long-felt want, and has proved a worth while extension of educational opportunities and privileges.
